Copy of letter No.12649-J/53-2, dated 17th February 1953, from the Secretary to Government of Madras, Development Department, to the Secretary to the Government of India, Ministry of Natural Resources and Scientific Research, NEW DELHI.

Sub:- MINES - Mineral Concession Rules, 1949 - Rule 10 - Certificate of Approval - Renewal - Clarification

I am directed to invite a reference to rule 9 of the Mineral Concession Rules, 1949 according to which it is granted and shall expire at midnight on the 31st December following. According to Rule 10, a certificate of approval may be renewed if the application for renewal is received within 3 months from the date of expiry of the certificate and after the expiry of 3 months, no renewal shall be granted, but an application for a fresh certificate may be made. As no renewal can be granted after 3 months from the date of expiry of the original certificate and as the applicant can make applications for renewal even on the last day, there will not be any time left for Government to examine such applications for renewal and pass orders in time. In this state the Collectors of districts receive applications for renewal of certificates and they submit the applications with their recommendation for orders of Government after satisfying themselves as to the competence of the applicants to continue to hold certificates of approval. As this may involve institution of enquiries etc. an interval between the date of application and the date of orders on such applications, is inevitable. I am also to point out that according to the proviso to Rule 9 of the Mineral Concession Rules, if renewal orders are issued in the last quarter of the year i.e. after 30th September, the certificate will be valid for the next year also. It therefore appears that the intention underlying rule 10 of the Mineral Concession Rules is that a person holding a certificate of approval should be permitted to apply for renewal within 3 months from the date of expiry of the certificate and that as a renewal granted after 30th September would be effective for the next year also, applications for renewal of certificates of approval should at least be disposed of before 30th September in any year.

a certificate of approval shall have effect from the date on which I am directed to request that the Government of India may be so good as to clarify the intention of rule 10 of the Mineral Concession Rules.

three months from the date of expiry of the Certificate and that if the renewal is granted after 30th September, the renewal would be of five years for the next year also. If it is intended that the renewal should be upto the end of December only in any year, then applications for renewals of certificates of approval should be disposed of before 30th September in that year.
